

His latest film Super 8 is off to a great start. Good reviews, and solid opening weekend at the box-office once again puts the spotlight on director J.J. Abrams. Talking to MTV, he shared more info on the upcoming Star Trek sequel. What he had to say about the script, current release date and more, check it out in the video below: Tags: Movie Trailers, Movies Blog "

"Without even knowing what the story is, part of me feels jealous of anyone else who gets to work with those actors—such an amazing group of actors. But I also want to make sure I know what it is I'm being asked to direct before I do it. We're working on the story and getting there. I'm very excited about what they've come up with so far." I would say it's not an impossibility to do it, but the studio agrees the most important thing is

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/Wolvie09/news/?a=39523&t=JJ\_Abrams\_Talks\_iStar\_Treki\_Sequel