

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/LetsCutTheBS/news/?a=27725&t=Jmans_Breakdown_of_MTVs_Spider-ManTurn_of_the_Dark_Review

Lets start out with what they did like. Now you will have to click on the source link to see how MTV elaborated on their own points, the below commentarty is from yours truly. These points are from MTV: 1. Set Design (Sounds like most of the scenes are depicted in New York, so it's not out of the realm of possibility that it would be done well, since offcourse Broadway is in New York and the fact that a street corner in New York can look the same as any other street corner in any other big city, especially if depicted on a small scale) 2. The Costumes (Just from the look of the above pic, I would say the costumes look good as well, however, I dont think the guy who broke multiple bones in his back, neck, and face would concur) 3. The Aerial Work (Same thing as number 2) 4. It's