

Interview conducted by cvg. While making the rounds to discuss Attack the Block, the enterprising journalists of CVG (Computer and VideoGames) hit Joe Cornish with some Halo and Ant-Man questions. Here's what he had to say: A movie that's shot all from one angle, scrolling from left-to-right sounds awesome, lol. Well, we known Edgar Wright and Joe Cornish have delivered the script to Marvel. Looks like all we're waiting for is Kevin Feige to give the green light. Speaking of which, to read up on all the potatoes in the Marvel cooking pot, click here. Edgar Wright plans to direct an action film for Marvel Studios with some humorous elements, insisting that Ant-Man will not be a comedy like Fantastic Four or a spoof. The script has been written by Wright and Joe Cornish, who plan to include Henry Pym and Scott Lang as major characters, with Pym

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=47210&t=emJoe_Cornishem_Briefly_Shares_His_Thoughts_On_The_emHaloem_And_emAnt-Manem_Movies