True Blood's Joe Manganiello was rumored to be up for the role of Superman in Zack Snyder's reboot a good while back along with several other actors such as Jon Hamm and Mathew Goode. When the rumor died off many assumed it had just been fan speculation/wishful thinking and that was that. But then a tweet from Hero Complex once again suggested that Manganiello might really be a contender for the role. And it seems as if they weren't just speculating on the old rumor as some thought. This tweet prompted another La Times blog, Ministry Of Gossip, to press Hero Complex for some details and here is what they turned up.. Joe Manganiello must be howling at the moon — the "True Blood" werewolf is definitely in the running for the new "Superman." Here's what we know: At last week's Academy Bake Off, a celebration of visual effects in film, talk around
