

In a lengthy interview with Comic Book Resources, former Marvel Comics Editor-on-Chief Joe Quesada has talked in detail about the decision to reveal major spoilers such as the recent deaths of Johnny Storm and Ultimate Spider-Man to the press before the comic books themselves go on sale, as well as the surprising news that he was recently asked by US President Barack Obama to do a special piece of artwork! Be sure to click on the link below to head on over to the site to read much, much more. On The Necessity Of Revealing Spoilers To The Mainstream Press And How It Eventually Benefits The Industry: Yes, it's very necessary. We've spoken about this before here on CBR, but let's go through it again. There is no question that there is no good way to do this. Whether we hold on to the press or break it in the news, someone is

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=43893&t=Joe_Quesada_On_Spoiling_Storylines_In_The_Press_Reveals_He_Was_Recently_Hired_By_Obama