

I drew up this illustration of the new Mark VIII armour from Iron Man 3 for fun when I had a bit of free time. Response was good while I was drawing it and a few friends suggested I turned it into a print, but I decided that rather than trying to sell it I'd let people download an A2 size hi-res PDF of it so they could get it printed themselves if they liked it enough. All that is required as payment is a simple tweet of acknowledgment using the button below the poster. If you do decide you like it and download a copy, thank you kindly for appreciating my work!
