

Not too much info on this yet but Variety report that Battle LA and Wrath Of The Titans director Jonathan Liebesman is in negotiations with Paramount to helm their reboot of the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles. Word is plot details are under wraps but the movie would be a new re-imagining of the famous comic and cartoon series. Now there have been many interpretations of the Turtles since their original comic book inception back in the '80s, the most popular being the first cartoon series. Is this to be a take that won't have elements of any of them? Guess we will find out soon enough. Josh Appelbaum and Andre Nemec wrote the script, with Michael Bay, Brad Fuller and Andrew Form producing for Platinum Dunes.
