

Source:Collider While discussing his CBS television show 'Person of Interest' at the Winter Television Critics Association Tour, the discussion inevitably turned to The Dark Knight Rises, despite the younger Nolan's insistence that the critics remain on topic. Question: Who came up with the crazy, airplane sequence for Bane in TDKR? NOLAN: " It's an amazing team with my brother, David Goyer and myself. Those are two great guys to work with and brainstorm with. I think Chris had long wanted to do the aerial spectacular. It's such a good fit for the IMAX cameras that he likes to shoot with, and so that was a long time in the making." Question: As a writer, is it worrisome that Bane's lines are reportedly inaudible? NOLAN: " I'd really rather talk about the show today, if that's okay. There's lots and lots and lots of talking to about The Dark Knight Rises, and I'm excited to do it,

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=52745&t=Jonathan Nolan Talks THE DARK KNIGHT RISES Wants To Follow In His Brothers Footsteps And Direct