

The following excerpts are from an interview the director recently did with The New York Times. Unfortunately, he couldn't talk about the project all that much, but made some interesting points about how he plans to film it. Since there's not much you can discuss about "Avengers" right now, what can you tell me about the status of your long-awaited horror film "The Cabin in the Woods"? I know that MGM is talking to people about it. Because MGM is, Everything must go – they've lost their lease. And I believe that there is some interest from other companies in acquiring it and distributing it. More than that, I cannot say, but I have hope that "Avengers" may not be the only thing I get to put out next year. Can you say when you start production on "Avengers"? We're just a hardscrabble bunch. Guerilla filmmaking. I start production a week from Monday.

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=35459&t=Joss\_Whedon\_Talks\_About\_Starting\_Production\_On\_iThe\_Avengersi