

Deadline reports that the speculation surrounding a 3D conversion of Jurassic Park has now been confirmed as Universal set a release date for July 19th, 2013. There has been talk of either this or a fourth instalment for a while, and releasing the original (and arguably best) film of the three is a good way of introducing a whole new generation to the franchise. In other news, the Joseph Kosinski directed Oblivion has been brought forward from July 10th, 2013 to April 26, 2013.

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=56420>