

It's a busy time for Phil Morris. Easily recognizable to sitcom viewers as the hilariously slimy lawyer Jackie Chiles on Seinfeld, and renowned throughout the fanboy realm as J'onn J'onzz/Martian Manhunter on Smallville, Morris is splitting his time this February celebrating his latest triumphs. Morris is a NAACP Image Award nominee in the category of Outstanding Actor in a Comedy Series for Love That Girl! While he prepares for the awards ceremony and all of its requisite celebrity gatherings, Morris is also making time to attend both the New York (2/13) and Los Angeles (2/16) premieres of Justice League: Doom. The consummate nice guy, Morris shifts to a darker, villainous approach for Justice League: Doom as he reprises his Justice League animated television series role as the immortal Vandal Savage. Morris is one of nine actors returning to the booth to record their original roles. Produced by Warner Premiere, DC Entertainment and Warner

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/SuperHeroTooniverse/news/?a=53729&t=JUSTICE_LEAGUE_DOOM_Phil_Morris_Interview_Re_Vandal_Savage