

• While I have a feeling we may have already heard this (either from a previous screening or someone involved with the film) there was indeed a three breasted woman in the footage shown, and you may be relieved to hear that she this wasn't censored or covered up in any way. • The next scene featured Kate Beckinsale (Lori, Quaid's wife) and Colin Farrell (Douglas "Doug" Quaid/Hauser), in which he tells her about taking out the men we see attempting to arrest him in the trailer. As they embrace, she starts to choke him, eventually resulting in the duo crashing through a window and fighting in the apartment (it is at this point she adopts an English accent, although it was hard to tell whether or not she had one before attempting to take Quaid out). • As the scene draws to a close, she reveals that she's only there to

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=60076>