

After having my phone, and any other electrical device capable of taking pictures or recording sound, taken from me and a quick search by a few burly security guards, I was finally able to take my seat in the first annual Kapow! Comic Con's main event. Before stars Chris Hemsworth and Tom Hiddleston entered the room for a fan Q&A (a description of which will be posted in the next couple of days) we were presented with three brand new scenes from Thor. Director Kenneth Branagh has put together a superb film which feels totally fresh and exciting when compared to previous superhero movies and everything from the CGI and music is spot on. Here is a description for the longest scene: -The first piece of footage, and the longest at roughly twenty minutes, started off with the scene where Odin banishes Thor to Earth. While we've already seen snippets of this

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=34949&t=KAPOW\_Detailed\_Description\_Of\_Twenty\_Minutes\_Of\_Brand\_New\_Thor\_Footage\_Featuring\_Hawkeye\_Cameo\_And\_More