

Hosted by Empire's Chris Hewitt, the panel began with a message from director Kenneth Branagh which was first read out to the 500 strong crowd. As some of you may know, it was previously believed that he would be there alongside Chris Hemsworth and Tom Hiddleston, and in his message, he apologised for the mistake and wished the audience all the best. It was a fairly humorous address which included plenty of references to Asgard and Thor. We were then shown the three clips from the movie (you can find a description of the longest one by clicking) and it was shortly after this that the two main stars were finally unveiled. Needless to say, they both entered to a rapturous series of applause and cheers. I can't deny that the first thing I noticed was just how huge Chris Hemsworth was! His arms alone are massive, and there's no doubt he's

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=35042&t=KAPOW\_Detailed\_Recap\_Of\_Chris\_Hemsworth\_And\_Tom\_Hiddleston\_QA\_Session