

Bloody Disgusting report that DREDD's Karl Urban will reprise his role as "Vaako," one of Lord Marshal's (Colm Feore) commanders, in The Chronicles of Riddick: Dead Man Stalking. The actor starred in both of the past movies, and while it was believed that the third movie might be something of a fresh start for the franchise, clearly not everything is being jettisoned! In case you've not already seen it, here is the synopsis. Betrayed by his own kind and left for dead on a desolate planet, Riddick (Diesel) fights for survival against alien predators and becomes more powerful and dangerous than ever before. Soon bounty hunters from throughout the galaxy descend on Riddick only to find themselves pawns in his greater scheme for revenge. With his enemies right where he wants them, Riddick unleashes a vicious attack of vengeance before returning to his home planet of Furya to save it from destruction. What
