

Earlier this year, Marvel Studios' president of production, Kevin Feige, was honored with The Visionary Award at the 37th Annual Saturn Awards. And according to All Things Fangirl, with a heads up from the ever-reliable RimBreaks, we got yet another hint that a particular cosmic weapon, and it's long-time rumored villainous wielder, may be appearing in The Avengers. During Kevin Feige's video acceptance speech from the set of The Avengers, we got a little sneak peak at something I don't believe has been previously alluded to anywhere. At two different points in the video, a PA walked through the background, trying to find a place to put a giant gold glove amongst all the other Avengers props laying around. At one point, Feige turned around and exclaimed, "Put that away, it's a secret!" Cue hum of the audience, trying to figure out how the Infinity Gauntlet will fit into The Avengers. Considering

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MarvelFreshman/news/?a=49038&:t=Kevin_Feige_Alludes_To_A_Spoilerific_Cosmic_Weapon_Appearing_In_iThe_Avengersi