

We've only seen a couple of blurry set photos featuring Olga Kurkulina as "Mother Russia", but it was clear from those that the character will be getting a much different look (at least in terms of costume) for her big screen debut. Well, director Jeff Wadlow has now Tweeted the following image from the set of the film - currently shooting in Toronto, Canada - giving us our first official look at the body-builder as "Mother Russia". Be sure to follow the director on Twitter by clicking on the link at the bottom of the page and sound off with your thoughts below.

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=67080>