

Cameras continue to roll in Toronto, Canada for Jeff Wadlow's Kick-Ass 2. This time there were at least two scene filmed on the Yonge St. set, which is currently decorated to look like at street in New York City. The first scene viewed was a dialogue scene between Dr. Gravity (Donald Faison) and Kick-Ass (Aaron Johnson). Most likely the scene is the same as the comic panel on the right (click to enlarge). Which has to do with Dr. Gravity telling Kick-Ass/Dave Lizewski his profession as well explaining what his Gravity Pole is. The second scene observed is much more exciting as it gives us our first look at Jim Carrey's Colonel Star with the rest of the superhero team, Justice Forever. We also get a much better look at the husband and wife vigilantes known as, Remembering Tommy. FIRST SCENE: DR. GRAVITY & KICK-ASS
..... SECOND SCENE: JUSTICE FOREVER
REMEMBERING TOMMY When Colonel Stars and Lieutenant

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/nailbiter111/news/?a=67707>