

Source: Showbiz Spy The quirky beauty says that both she and Tobey had hoped to make a cameo in Sony's reboot of the Spider-Man franchise but the top Execs at Sony were having none of it. "I wanted to do a cameo," explains Kirsten. "I had the idea of Tobey and I as extras and we'd just walk by in the background but it's not in there. I love Andrew Garfield and I think Emma Stone (who plays love interest Gwen Stacey) is cute too. I think that they're going to be really cute in the movie for sure. They look like they have good chemistry." Romantic chemistry is a key focal point of the Spider-Man franchise in drawing in audience members that aren't necessarily fans of the old web-head. While a lot of things can be said about the original movie, from praise to criticism, Tobey and Kirsten definitely had chemistry. Hopefully

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=50951&t=Kirsten_Dunst_And_Tobey_Maguire_Wanted_Cameos_In_THE_AMAZING_SPIDER-MAN_Reboot