

Greetings Krang Followers! Things are moving along very well here at Krang 2012! The first piece of news is very exciting! According to the most recent Real Clear Politics map, Montana, Arizona, Missouri and North Carolina are all now officially solid Krang states! The RCP map shows them in Krang's iconic pink color, and though we haven't read the details or map key, clearly this must mean these are solid Krang states. Now, clearly, there are a lot of red states for Romney and blue for Obama, but with these pink states leading the way, it's only a matter of time before more states join the cause! As you all know by now, Krang has been trying to get included in the presidential debates without any success. He was excluded from both presidential debates so far and his VP nominee, Slash, was excluded from the Vice Presidential debate in

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/bvanhooker/news/?a=68911>