

The mag features interviews with the cast and more than likely a few brand new stills too. Here are a few quotes from director Christopher Nolan, who says he is "very happy" with the Batman threequel.. "We want this to be the most exciting film, the most emotionally engaging and enjoyable blockbuster that an audience can see this summer," "I'm very happy with it. I know it's the film I wanted to make. It does all the things I really hoped for. I look what everyone has done in the film and I think they've done a very good job — and I think I've done a good job not obscuring it." For more be sure to pick up the issue when it hits news stands this Friday, and head on over to the website (link below) for some insight from Christian Bale.
