

A batch of recent Game of Thrones season 7 set snaps would seem to confirm some plot rumors relating to Theon Greyjoy's evil uncle Euron (Pilou Asbæk) and several of the Dornish characters. The pics surfaced over at Warchers on The Wall, and give us a pretty clear look at Euron and his men leading some very familiar looking prisoners through the rainy streets of King's Landing: Yara Greyjoy (Gemma Whelan), Ellaria (Indira Varma) and Tyene Sand (Rosabell Laurenti Sellers). Those rumors suggested that Euron would be victorious in a massive sea battle that saw "at least one" of The Sand Snakes killed, and the fact that neither Obara (Keisha Castle-Hughes) or Nymeria (Jessica Henwick) are present here could well mean they both fell to pirate swords during the confrontation. Though these characters are very popular in the books, fans of their live-action counterparts are few and far between - so there probably won't be many tears shed if they do meet their

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/fantasy/latest-game-of-thrones-season-7-set-pics-come-with-some-fairly-major-a147573>