

In 1996, Michael Jordan and fellow NBA players Charles Barkley, Patrick Ewing, Muggsy Bogues, Larry Johnson and Shawn Bradley were featured in Space Jams. A movie that combined live action basketball stars with Looney Tunes stars, like Bugs Bunny, Tweet Bird, Porky Pig and newcomer Lola Bunny. The iconic cartoon characters, with the help of Michael Jordan defeated an alien race, the Monstars, in a basketball game with high stakes. Well the internet is buzzing today because superstar basketball player Lebron "King" James tweeted that he'd like to be in a sequel. RT @parletoo: @kingjames do you love space Jam ?(I love that movie. Wish I could do Space Jam 2!)— LeBron James (@KingJames) August 26, 2012 Keep in mind that Warner Bros. currently doesn't have Space Jam 2 in development, but when one of the most popular athletes in all of sports says he has interest, movie executives take notice. So let's
