

When Ghost Rider: Spirit of Vengeance was screened at Harry Knowles' annual "Butt-Numb-A-Thon" the initial reception from those in attendance was not good. Descriptions ranged from "unbearable" to "boring" and you can read them all by clicking HERE. However, looking back on the event, Ain't It Cool News' Nordling offered up his own take on the movie and it's a fair bit more positive than what we saw in those initial Tweets. Neveldine/Taylor is an acquired taste, I think, for some movie fans. I think their frenetic shooting style puts a lot of people off, and I understand that. I'm very big on spatial geography in action sequences, and these guys like to put themselves in the middle of everything in their shooting. This movie followed a mind-blowing movie experience at BNAT, so I think it was due to suffer in comparison; that said, I had a hell of

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=51097&t=Lengthier_Review_Offers_Up_A_Far_More_Positive_Take_On_GHOST_RIDER_SPIRIT_OF_VENGANCE