

The Hollywood Reporter reveals that Lindy Booth (The Philanthropist) is set to join the cast of Kick-Ass 2 as 'Night Bitch'. Booth previously worked with writer/director Jeff Wadlow on thriller, Cry Wolf. A member of "Justice Forever", the character doesn't have a particularly large role in the Mark Millar and John Romita Jr. series, but is one of the superheroes inspired by 'Kick-Ass' and the rise of the other heroes. She claims that the main driving force behind what she does was the murder of her sister, who was found in a dumpster. As you can see from the image below, the beautiful actress certainly looks the part, and she joins an already very impressive ensemble cast.
