

The Avengers, directed by Joss Whedon, finished shooting early this month. Now, the film is in big post-production stages where companies are working on visual effects. It was previously reported that Industrial Light & Magic will be doing VFX, but now it seems that WETA Digital has joined ILM to make the film's effects even better. Below is a list of the special effects companies, some of the movies they've worked on, including who've worked on practical effects and previsualization. Also, I heard that WETA may work on visual effects for The Hulk or the mysterious aliens that'll appear in the movie. So, if it's true, it will look amazing.
