

While reading A Princess of Mars as a kid I always had that background music in my head for some reason. Burroughs' writing had that impact on me that every page was something new, just waiting to be explored, and the character of John Carter stayed with me until this day. Based on these samples below, Michael Giacchino's score for the Andrew Stanton-directed film seems to be truly perfect, especially for this big sci-fi adventure. Giacchino previously worked on Star Trek, Up, Super 8, 50/50, The Incredibles, Mission: Impossible – Ghost Protocol and much more. Before you listened to it, I just want to give you a heads up that some of the track titles could be considered a spoiler. Check it out:  That last one... Wow. You can pre-order the soundtrack by clicking the image above. What do you think? Starring Taylor Kitsch, Lynn Collins and Willem Dafoe, Mark Strong,

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/Wolvie09/news/?a=55032&t=Listen_To_Some_More_Music_From_JOHN_CARTER_By_Michael_Giacchino