

Announced last year at SDCC 2011, details on the live-action Voltron movie have been virtually nonexistent but this year's Con supplied a brief update from World Event Productions' Creative Director Jeremy Corray and vice president Robert Kopla . QUESTION: What's the latest word on the Voltron feature film that you introduced at last year's Comic-Con? Kopla: It's currently in development with Relativity Media. Josh Oppenheimer and Thomas Donnelly are working on the script and they have some cool ideas. It's going to be a big action adventure flick and we're really excited about it. We have some talented producers on it. Relativity Media announced last year that they had optioned the rights for a feature film based on the 5 brave space explorers who find robot lions which form the galactic defender known as Voltron. The live-action film will be produced by Atlas Entertainment's Roven (The Dark Knight) and Richard Suckle
