

The excellent first trailer for Logan hit last week, but we're still getting some production stills from the movie via The WponX Instagram page and courtesy of director James Mangold himself. This one comes from Mangold's Twitter account, and features Hugh Jackman as an older, world-weary Wolverine. We recently found out that the character's healing factor still works, but now the wounds he sustains leave scars behind - and from the looks of "Old Man Logan" here, he's accumulated quite a few over the years. Logan also stars Patrick Stewart, Richard E. Grant, Boyd Holdbrook, Stephen Merchant, Dafne Keen, Eriq La Salle, Elise Neal, and Elizabeth Rodriguez. The final Wolverine movie is set to claw its way into theaters on March 3, 2017.

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/x-men/the_wolverine/logan-director-james-mangold-shares-a-new-image-of-hugh-a146307