Here's an excerpt from the ever reliable Michael Ausiello's latest column, that hints at the chance of Michael Rosenbaum's return to the show as the villainous Lex Luthor, being far more likely than recent reports from the past few weeks have claimed. Oh, and he also confirms that Kristin Kreuk will most definitely NOT be back as Lana Lang. Can you give us a big Smallville scoop? "If what I'm hearing about the show's final batch of episodes is true, producers are at the very least cautiously optimistic that the very busy Michael Rosenbaum will be back. Kristin Kreuk, meanwhile, will definitely not be back. Sorry Lana fans. (There are Lana fans out there, yes?)" Pretty great news, huh? Whether you're a fan of the show or not, there's no doubting just how great Rosenbaum was as Lex, so his return would be a fantastic way of finishing the show on a high
