

Speaking to MTV, Lorenzo di Bonaventura - producer of the upcoming G.I. Joe sequel, reportedly titled Cobra Strikes - talks about the 'lead role' that Roadblock (played by Dwayne 'The Rock' Johnson) and Snake Eyes will have in the film, and he also confirms that ninjas will have a tremendous influence as well. He also talks more about including Roadblock into the film. On the lead roles that Snake Eyes and Roadblock have in the film... It's a full-on lead role. In a way, he and Snake-Eyes, their stories are really dynamic and very important. On the ninja influence in the film... The ninja fans are going to love it. There's a tremendous amount of it. What's interesting is, we both have that going on in the Snake-Eyes story, but we've found a way to bring that element into the Joes' story. I think anybody who's a fan of dark, in the middle of the

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/BatFreak/news/?a=40700&t=Lorenzo_Di_Bonaventura_Talks_GI_Joe_2i