

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MarvelFreshman/news/?a=29092&t=Lucas_Till_Briefly_On_Havok_In_iX-Men_First_Class

In a brief quote from the latest issue of VMAN Magazine, young actor Lucas Till, whose portraying Alex Summers aka Havok in Matthew Vaughn's X-Men: First Class prequel, speaks on the process and look for the role. "The day after I arrived on location to shoot Battle: Los Angeles, I started a three-week boot camp. The first week consisted of getting my body physically and mentally ready for everything the marines would be doing in the weeks to come. For X-Men: First Class, my routine is a lot different. Portraying Alex Summers, I want to look as athletic as his character is in the comics. My trainer, Ed Chow, is one of the nicest people on the face of the earth, which is deceiving, because he is damn good at what he does." Apparently, theres more from Till on the role in this VMAN magazine issue, which hits shelves February 10. And look