

The guys over at Bleeding Cool have posted a fairly lengthy interview with the actor who play Alex Summers, aka Havok in X-Men: First Class and below we have a few of the main excerpts. To read it in its entirety, simply click on the link at the bottom of the page to be taken over to the site. Speaking of "funny sense of humor..." If you had to choose – we all know which side Havok is on in the comics – but if you had to choose, which side would you prefer: Charles or Erik? Ah. Havok is a real good guy. About being on, completely on one side, uhm... I, as a selfish, you know, fanboy, I'd just wanna be on Magneto's side, 'cause he gets to do all the fun. As a human being, of course, I'd go with Xavier, because you have a conscience, and Magneto does

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=35301&t=Lucas Till Talks More About Playing Havok In iX-Men First Classi