

“No one's slick as Gaston, no one's quick as Gaston. No one's neck's as incredibly thick as Gaston!” If you're a fan of Disney's Beauty and the Beast, the famous (and vain) ode to the film's villain is one of the hilarious highlights of the original animated classic, and the song will be making a slightly different comeback when Disney releases their live-action remake next month. According to actor Luke Evans, the new version of the song will feature some lyrics that were written for the original film but never used in the final cut. “We have lines that were not in the original,” Evans told Entertainment Weekly when they visited the film's set. “The guys did at Disney reviewed all the transcripts and recordings, they've been able to go back through those hours and hours of recorded footage, and listen to lyrics that were written and never used, which are actually gems. For the audience who know the song immensely well —
