

From their official Facebook page, Make-Up Effects Group - who provided the visuals for films such as Babe and the Matrix trilogy - have been hired to provide the effects for I, Frankenstein, based on the Kevin Greivoux graphic novel and starring Aaron Eckhart in the title role. The story is described as "a contemporary fantasy thriller in which the original monster of Victor Frankenstein stands between the human race and an uprising of supernatural creatures determined to overthrow the world." The group has confirmed that some concept demon statues have already been created, and that they're currently working on Eckhart's Frankenstein look. We are really excited to announce that Make-up Effects Group have been given the job to create all the special make-up effects for the feature film I, Frankenstein. We've already created some cool conceptual demon sculptures that Stuart and the team loved. Currently we are developing the Frankenstein

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/BatFreak/news/?a=51393&t=Make-Up_Effects_Group_To_Create_Visuals_For_I_FRANKENSTEIN