

The ever-reliable Alberta Film Ratings have revealed an updated list of classified film trailers and as you can see below, we have some VERY exciting news. Seen it? Yeah, you're not even reading this at this point, are you?! Exciting stuff indeed. Regardless, when exactly this teaser will debut remains unknown at this point (those of you lucky enough to be at this weekend's San Diego Comic-Con will more than likely get to see it at the Hall H panel) but you can guarantee that it will be playing before The Dark Knight Rises next Friday. 1:27 is a pretty short, so here's hoping we'll actually get some footage from the film rather than just the logo and a voiceover! Either way, it will be a real treat to see ANYTHING from Man of Steel at this point. What are you guys most looking forward to seeing? Sound off with your thoughts
