

ThinkMcflyThink.com is reporting (by way of a tweet) that the up coming reboot of Superman called 'Man of Steel' will include The Fortress Of Solitude. Filming is set to commence in Vancouver with the building of the Fortress itself at the Vancouver Film Studios, where the rest of the movie will be filmed along with locations in Chicago. What do you guys think? Want to see the Fortress or not? Want to keep the "Crystal design" or something different like All-Star Superman? Or the South America Fortress? 'Man Of Steel' stars Henry Cavill as Clark Kent/Superman, Diane Lane, Kevin Coster, Amy Adams and Michael Shannon as General Zod.
