

Earlier today, it was confirmed that Jim Carrey has joined the cast of Kick-Ass 2 - based on the series by writer Mark Millar and artist John Romita Jr. - as 'Colonel Stars' (more details on that can be found HERE). This is obviously a major addition to the already impressive cast and should result in a pretty major box office boost for the Jeff Wadlow helmed follow-up to Matthew Vaughn's 2010 movie due to the Carrey's dedicated fanbase. Below is a statement issued by Mark Millar on the Millarworld Forums in which he shares his thought on the casting of the actor and teases plenty of other exciting announcements in the near future. Okay, now THIS is very exciting. Matthew Vaughn, Jeff Wadlow and I did a conference call with Jim a couple of weeks back and we've been itching to talk about this ever since because the energy Jim's going to

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=66784>