

Taking to his Twitter account once again, Mark Millar revealed earlier today that Supercrooks, an upcoming comic book series with art from Lenil Yu described as "Oceans 11 Meets The X-Men", is now in the hands of a movie studio. That's right, although it won't hit stands until next year, the script has been completed and is awaiting the green light. It will be directed by Nacho Vigalondo. The critically acclaimed comic book writer also dropped some hints that a few of his other projects will also be hitting the big screen come 2013. Nemesis? Superior? Yes please! What do you guys make of this news? Which of Millar's characters are you most looking forward to seeing come to life on the big screen? Be sure to share your thoughts in the usual place!
