

As you can see in the below screengrab taken from the Millarworld forums, Mark Millar has revealed that the news of work moving ahead on a sequel to Wanted isn't the only thing we have to look forward to! So, what might they be? Kick-Ass 2, Nemesis, Supercrooks and Superior have all been rumored for a while now, so don't be surprised if at least two or three of those are part of the announcements that the critically acclaimed Scottish writer is promising! Of course, he has plenty of other projects (both known and secret) but I'm guessing the next few years will belong just as much to "Millarworld" as they do Marvel and DC.
