

Comic writer Mark Millar has summed up his thoughts on Green lantern in a few short Tweets. "I hereby declare Green Lantern the worst superhero movie ever made. And yes I count The Phantom and The Shadow as superhero movies. Green Lantern was the cheapest-looking 300 million dollar movie I've ever seen. Why didn't they give that money (to) Africa? It had a couple of good moments, all coming from Mark Strong. But oh man. It was just such an ODD movie. Like it travelled here from a parallel universe where they made a Green Lantern movie in 1995. But it was only eight quid and thus worth it. And I know I'll go and see it again " Ouch! Harsh words Marky. Let's not get carried away now, hasn't he seen Catwoman? Elektra? Iron Man 2?;) Anyway, at least he said he is seeing it again. Maybe we could convince

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsraits/news/?a=39719&t=Mark\_Millar\_Weighs\_In\_On\_iGreen\_Lanterni