

According to news reports, the plotline of the Zack Snyder-directed Man of Steel will borrow from Mark Waid's Superman: Birthright. Considering that Snyder looks at this film as a means of addressing Superman's place in the modern world, it makes sense and in this exclusive interview Waid shares his intent for Birthright.

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/VoicesFromKrypton/news/?a=23571>