

Well, this came out of nowhere! Marvel announced today that they've found their Runaways, and the first group of young actors who will be playing the show's key team members has now been revealed. A brief synopsis has also been revealed, though it doesn't reveal much beyond what comic book fans will already know about the heroes. "Every teenager thinks their parents are evil," it reads. "What if you found out they actually were?" Marvel's Runaways is the story of six diverse teenagers who can barely stand each other but who must unite against a common foe—their parents. Sounds good! So, who is playing who? Well, here are the actor and character details from Marvel and Hulu. Rhenzy Feliz (Teen Wolf) is Alex Wilder is a loud-and-proud nerd. Admittedly a bit of a loner, Alex spends much of his free-time playing video games, but deep down, what he wants most is to reunite his childhood group of friends. Lyrica Okano (The Affair) is Nico Minoru—tough,

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/tv/marvel/runaways/marvel-announces-the-six-lead-stars-of-hulus-upcoming-runaways-a148634>