

Coinciding with this weeks release of Deadpool #49.1, which sees the 'Merc with a Mouth'singing his way through the entire issue, we have Deadpool editor Jordan D. White taking things to the next level with an actual musical recording. Take a listen! Deadpool, the Musical! by Jordan D. White White himself plays all the instruments and provides the vocals except for the last track which sees actual Deadpool series writer, Daniel Way playing electric guitar and bass. Said White, "This song is not endorsed by or affiliated with Marvel--I did this all on my own time, for no money whatsoever, and I am letting you hear it and have it for completely free. There's a download button up there, feel free to save it and listen to it over and over again! That being said, it is based on a comic both Dan and I worked hard on, so we'd sure appreciate
