This from the official Marvel Press Release: 'NEW YORK, NY – January 18, 2011 – Marvel Entertainment has promoted TQ Jefferson to Vice President of Production, Games, it was announced today by Ira Rubenstein, Executive Vice President, Global Digital Media Group, Marvel Entertainment.' Now the juicy part: 'Jefferson is responsible for overseeing the development of the much-anticipated Marvel vs. Capcom 3 video game with partner Capcom, helping to determine the roster and introducing new-to-the-franchise Marvel characters including Phoenix, Super-Skrull and Deadpool. In addition, Jefferson brought Marvel writer Frank Tieri on board to write for Marvel vs. Capcom 3 and has also worked with writers Matt Fraction and Christos Gage to bring epic storytelling to SEGA's Thor: God Of Thunder and Captain America: Super Soldier video games. Jefferson has been critical to the success of the newly launched Marvel.com and MarvelKids.com by taking production in-house and creating a growing portfolio of new Flash-based
