

We recently learned which young actors will play the members of The Runaways in the Hulu series, but now ten more stars have been cast as the team's parents. A criminal organisation that controlled the Los Angeles area of the Marvel Universe, learning that their mothers and fathers were secretly villains is what led to The Runaways assembling in the first place, so expect this lot to play a key role here. So, who is playing who and how do they connect to each member of the team? Here's the breakdown: Kip Pardue (Ray Donovan) is Frank Dean, a former teen star who rode a short-lived movie career and is now teeming with insecurity. Floundering in his professional career as an actor, Frank is seeking to renew purpose in his life while being a father to Karolina. Ryan Sands (The Wire) is Geoffrey Wilder, a man defined by the gruelling path he's taken to achieve his self-made success. A hulking presence, Geoffrey can effortlessly

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/tv/marvel/runaways/marvel-reveals-who-will-play-the-villainous-members-of-the-a148833>