

Roughly six months until The Avengers movie hits theaters, Marvel Studios has managed to do the impossible; keep the visual identity of the highly-anticipated film's secondary villains secret. While the main reason for that is they're fully CGI-ed, and reportedly in varieties themselves, we may have an early look via an action figure from Marvel Select; if they aren't already revealed prior to the figure's reveal. Sans any photos and revealing specs, check out vague details available for the upcoming figure below. A Diamond Select Release! Designed and Sculpted by Gentle Giant! We know who all the Avengers are in the new Joss Whedon movie, but who are their foes? Kept tightly under wraps, we've developed an all-new 7-inch-scale Marvel Select figure of one of them in secret, and now he's available for order! With 16 points of articulation and a detailed display base, this baddie will be the crowning jewel in

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MarvelFreshman/news/?a=51433&t=Marvel_Select_Figure_Modeled_After_THE_AVENGERS_Mystery_Villains_Announced