

When Marvel Studios first announced a Joss Whedon-helmed ABC television series based on S.H.I.E.L.D., the Strategic Homeland Intervention, Enforcement and Logistics Division that's well-established in the Marvel cinematic universe, shooting for the pilot was said to "start immediately." And showcasing all new characters that Whedon confirmed last month, a casting call via E!Online has revealed details for original Agents. Agent Grant Ward is described as "deadly, precise and cool under fire and just doesn't play well with others due to his not-so-great people skills. He's volatile, but a decent guy with morals whose charm will eventually come through." The description for Agent Althea Rice (a.k.a. "The Cavalry") says she's "Soulful and quiet, an ace pilot, weapons expert and soldier who is damaged from her combat experience and has gone beyond the call of duty." And last but not least, there's a duo known as Agent Leo Fitz and Agent Jemma Simmons, AKA "Fitz-Simmons."
