

Mathew Fox played the lead role of Jack in Lost for many years, and found a large fan following. His looks, height, and acting skills seem to have endeared him to many CBM fans, and he has been brought up frequently by many fans when quite a few roles (Daredevil, Flash for example) have been discussed. But does Fox see himself in a CBM role someday? While speaking to him about some his upcoming movies like Emperor, World War Z and Alex Cross, Collider mention how popular the genre is right now with the likes of The Avengers and TDKR, and if he can think of any characters he may have some interest in.. FOX: Off the top of my head I can't – you know the truth is that stuff's going to be exhausted pretty soon, because they've been churning them out man. COLLIDER: I said that a few years ago, but
