

Spotted by our friends over at Cosmic Book News, Mattel has answered five fan questions over at Action Figure Insider, one of which was in relation to the toy line for The Dark Knight Rises. There's not a lot to go here, but it at least gives fans an indication as to when they'll get their first glimpse at the action figures they'll be able to buy next Summer. You will see some information released starting with NY Toy Fair. There'll be Movie Masters in 6" and 3.75" regular figures. The NY Toy Fair will take place between February 12 - 15th, 2012. Are you happy with the brief details revealed here? Which character from the highly anticipated movie are you most looking forward to getting your hands on? Sound off with your thoughts in the usual place. *The action figure pictured above is from The Dark Knight. STARRING: Christian Bale as Bruce Wayne/Batman Michael Caine
